

Child Exploitation & Online Safety

Written with leading experts in the field, the training aims to bring you up-to-date on how children and young people use technology and the associated risks. It also provides the essential information to help protect children and young people from sexual exploitation.

The EduCare logo features the word 'EduCare' in a multi-colored font where each letter is a different color: E (blue), d (orange), u (green), C (red), a (purple), r (yellow), e (pink).

child exploitation & online safety

The programme comprises three modules and three questionnaires. It's content covers:

- how technology is changing and its effects
- information about children's online world
- the risks of technology
- child sexual exploitation: what is it and what are the warning signs
- what we can do as teachers and parents
- advice for schools and colleges
- guidance on what Ofsted are looking for in their inspection of E-Safety
- what is expected of schools and colleges
- the role and responsibilities of the E-Safety Officer.

The training programme has been uniquely designed in the style of a range of social platforms and websites to ensure learners are familiar with the online world children and young people are so accustomed to.
